When will I get my new I-20 from my new school?
- The new school must wait until your SEVIS record is released to issue the new I-20

Why does my new transfer I-20 say transfer pending?
- The SEVIS transfer process is a two-step process.
  - The first I-20 documents that your SEVIS record was transferred to the new school.
  - The second I-20 documents that you have registered for classes at the new school. It will say continued attendance.

What if I want to go home before starting classes at the new school?
- You must use the I-20 from the new school to return to the U.S.

Will I need to apply for a new F-1 visa since my SEVIS record was transferred?
- If your current F-1 visa expires after your date of return and has multiple entries, then you will not need to apply for a new F-1 visa. This is true even if your current F-1 visa has ISU listed in the annotation at the bottom of the visa.
What are the immediate consequences if I fail to request a transfer within the timeframes noted above?

- You will be considered in violation of your F-1 nonimmigrant status
- You will not be allowed to continue working on campus
- If you have authorization to work off campus, it will be automatically terminated
- You lose your eligibility for all other benefits of your F-1 nonimmigrant status
- You lose your eligibility to change your status, for example from F-1 to H-1B

What if I don’t complete the immigration transfer process and the new school gives me a new I-20?

- This type of I-20 is issued for the purpose of initial attendance
  - You will not be able to return to the U.S. until 30 days prior to the report date on your new I-20
  - You will need to enroll full time for one full academic year before being eligible for CPT or OPT
- If you failed to inform the new school you were previously enrolled at IEOP or ISU
  - This is viewed as fraud and is reason for the new school to cancel your admission
